SLAMANDER BONDED LEATHER

SALAMANDER Bonded Leather GmbH & Co. KG is the world oldest, largest and leading manufacturer of BONDED LEATHER. (Made in Germany)

Only few materials come as close to genuine leather in quality and in application performance as bonded leather (also known as SALPA). By finely milling vegetable leather scraps as well as chrome shavings which they obtain from all around the world, and adding natural fat and latex as a binder, it is guaranteed that SALAMANDER Bonded leather is made of over 90 % natural and re-growing raw materials. After adding water, the mixture is pumped through a long screen machine - a production process very similar to the production of paper. By subsequently drying and finishing their material, they obtain bonded leather - a continuous product, which is available in a number of qualities and thicknesses.

Possible Advantages of bonded leather include;

- Environmentally friendly – reuses leftover leather without extra farming
- Product consistency – no natural defects and minimal batch to batch variation
- High durability
- Extensive design options – from leather effects to bold geometric designs
